Fun;

fun (v.)

1680s, "to cheat;" 1833 "to make fun, jest, joke," from fun (n.).

Related: Funning.

fun (adj.)

mid-15c., "foolish, silly;" 1846, "enjoyable," from fun (n.).

"diversion, amusement, mirthful sport," 1727, earlier "a cheat, trick" (c. 1700), from verb fun (1680s) "to cheat, hoax," which is of uncertain origin, probably a variant of Middle English fonnen "befool" (c. 1400; see fond). Scantly recorded in 18c. and stigmatized by Johnson as "a low cant word." Older senses are preserved in phrase to make fun of (1737) and funny money "counterfeit bills" (1938, though this use of the word may be more for the sake of the rhyme).

Below is an Article briefly describing the business(bis-ness/state of duality) and process(pro-sess/for tax or for sewage) of DEAD LEGAL NAME VICTIMS with my comment-arie(common dairy/commandeer-re) in parent-thesis(parentheses)

"First, a doctor must certify your death and a death or cremation certificate must be issued. If doctors haven't seen (seen as in, seen a legal name on a piece of paper somewhere, i.e. death certificates) a patient in a couple of weeks, doctors must report the death to a coroner, (Core-Owner) The Guardian reported. Sometimes, a coroner will request a postmortem (Post-Mort'em (After Killed, to kill again)) to determine (debtor-moon/deter-men/detour-mine) the cause of death.

'If a young person dies, the likelihood of them having a postmortem is high because their death is much more likely to be unexpected,' pathologist Dr Rob Jenkins told the Guardian. (Truth is, they are LEGAL NAME PAD-OF-FILES and they like FUCKING WITH YOUNGER FLESH) 'Many older people who die won't have a postmortem because they are likely to have had a known illness that has led to their death.'

Next, the body goes to the funeral director (D'Erect-Whore). Sometimes the funeral director will collect the body from hospitals, sometimes from someone's home.

IT'S (are you an IT/I.D.?) immediately put into a refrigerated unit at the funeral home. When IT'S been registered and after family permission is given (i.e. Bearing FALSE WITNESS on a LIVING BEING via LEGAL NAME I.D.-Ache-Ment(attachment)), embalming begins.

An embalmer (embalmer = E/M-Ba'al-Merc) cleans the body with a formaldehyde (Form-Eil-de'Hyde) or disinfectant spray. The embalmer might need to massage the body's limbs if its still stiff from rigor mortis.(Playing with Dead Bodies, NECROPHELIAC FOREPLAY)

After formaldehyde is applied, the body is drained of blood and fluids from organs and the chest.

'I make an incision just under the rib cage and insert a metal suction tool, known as a trocar (t-rho-car/crucified spirit breath within a body), attached to a suction pump (Intention to Suck Ions/Energy/Blood),' embalmer Karen Koutandos (LEGAL NAME DEMON) told The Guardian. 'I then puncture the internal organs to drain the fluid. I remove the contents of the intestines, bowels and bladder, too, as these can give off gases and smell.'

Koutandos said a body's nose and throat are packed with cotton wool (Ewe get stuffed like a dead teddy bear Teddy Wrecked-Spin Doll) to stop fluids from seeping out.

Embalmers sew mouths shut, remove bodily fluids and blood, brush and style hair, cut nails and apply makeup. The bodies are then washed and dressed in the clothing they will be buried in. (They like to play dress-up with dead corpses, but It's okay because it's LEGAL so everyone thinks it's normal. Buncha' Norman Bates' wannabe's)

Before a funeral service, research is conducted (Conned-Euch'ed-Deed) on the deceased (diseased, i.e. LEGAL NAME LIFESTYLE/Death Stye-EII).
Immortalized,(IMMORT – I'm Mort / I AM DEAD) Pictures (Picked-Tors) are chosen for the service. (GRAVEN IMAGES/FALSE IDOLS)

Cotton may be used to make the mouth look more natural, if the deceased doesn't have teeth. Mouths are sewn shut from the inside. (They stuff the mouth full of newspaper/jews paper/Noose paper/Gnu's paper/In ewe's paper. LEGAL NAME PAD-OF-FILES that live a fraudulent papered over legal name death cult lifestyle get exactly what they deserve. All their lives are spent spewing PROGRAMMED LEGAL NAME DEMON SPEAK until they finally get what they consciously/subconsciously asked/wished for. All those legal name pad-of-files get shoved back down the creation field (throat) in which they originally prematurely ejaculated from every time they opened their TRAPS.)

Eyes are dried and plastic(play-stick/Styx) is kept under the eyelids to maintain a natural shape.

After the embalming, THE BODY is washed.

Hair is washed and men are shaved. An embalmer will also trim nose hairs and fix up the deceased's nails.

Makeup—but not too much—is applied to lessen the 'waxy look' a dead body might have. (Norm-Man Master-Baters)

Without mourners, funeral homes are often feel like sterilized and quiet places of business. THE BODY is dressed before being placed in a coffin and sometimes two or three people will dress THE BODY.

Skin can be very fragile. Sometimes a plastic suit might be put on underneath the body if IT has deteriorated significantly.

Embalming and dress might be different based on the deceased's faith. Immigrant's bodies might be prepared for repatriation to another country.

After being embalmed, a body might be placed in a viewing room for days, weeks or months. IT can be cremated or buried.

'The final product is personal and specific, with a façade of tailored individuality that masks the reality that death is commonplace,' Perro wrote about her photography project. 'The sterile quality of these interiors is underscored by the images' formal composition—portraying death as routine, unremarkable, and inevitable.'

Sienna Perro said funeral homes almost feel 'detached from death' in her photographs."

When these Neck-Rope-Helly-Acts(necropheliacs) are done raping a LEGAL NAMERS' dead life-less rotting meat corpse, they toss I.D. into a GRAVE to become Satan's GRAVE-E/GRAVY/GRAY-VI, 6 Feet deep/Sig's Feed De'-E-P/Hexed Fe(Iron/Carbon Meat Sack Bawdy)-D D.P.(double penetration) for Maximum Stimulation(Stye-Mule-8-Shun).
